

Canterbury Red Devils Sponsorship Proposal 2024

The NZIHL and the Canterbury Red Devils

New Zealand Ice Hockey League

- The New Zealand Ice Hockey League (NZIHL) was established in 2005 and involves five NZ based teams:
 - Canterbury Red Devils
 - West Auckland Admirals
 - Botany Swarm (Auckland)
 - SkyCity Stampede (Queenstown)
 - Phoenix Thunder (Dunedin)
- The league consists of a 16 game round robin in which each team plays the other teams twice at home and twice away. At the end of the round robin the 2nd and 3rd place team play a semifinal for the right to play against the 1st place team in a three game final series for the Birgel Cup.
- There is a 6th development team called the Mako which is made up of younger up and coming players plus selected veterans to mentor the players. Each NZIHL teams plays two home games vs the Mako.
- The NZIHL is an amateur league made up of predominantly New Zealand players with the ability to play up to 2 foreign players ("imports").
- The Canterbury Red Devils are a team of the Canterbury Ice Hockey Association Incorporated (CIHA), a registered charity.
- The Canterbury Red Devils have won the championship four times; 2009, 2012, 2013, 2014. In the 2023 season the team finished 4th.

Canterbury Red Devils Profile

- Canterbury Ice Hockey Association has a registered player base of 559 people from youth to senior grades as at 1 October 2023.
- On average during the 2023 season the Canterbury Red Devils sold 350 tickets per game (700 per home weekend). Including volunteers and concession tickets the game audience in the rink was approximately 400 people per game.
- Canterbury Red Devils utilise Facebook and Instagram platforms to share important news, upcoming games, highlights, and more.
 - https://www.facebook.com/reddevilshockey 4.0k followers
 - https://www.instagram.com/reddevilshockey 1.4k followers
- The home games are livestreamed via YouTube on the New Zealand Ice Hockey League profile. https://www.youtube.com/@NZIHL This account has 4.1k subscribers and past live streamed events have received on average 2-3k views, with the final series in 2023 being viewed 5k per game.
- The Canterbury Red Devils also have a website with ticket, team, sponsor and schedule information. https://www.reddevils.co.nz/
- The NZIHL promotes the league and games. It's website is https://nzihl.com and their Facebook account is https://www.facebook.com/Nzihl with 6.0k followers.

The Costs of Canterbury Red Devils

- The NZIHL is an amateur ice hockey league, no player is paid to play. Any shortfall in covering the cost to play is paid by the players.
- The team trains one to two times a week on-ice during the pre-season and season.
 An hour of ice time costs the team $450 and the annual budget is $20k of ice time.
- The travel, accommodation, and game day ice costs are organized centrally by the NZIHL and each team pays an even share. The estimated cost for 18 games (4 away trips) is $60k per team.
- In addition to these costs there are other team costs which include; team jerseys, medical supplies, pre-game meals, advertising, and Import transfer costs.
- We do sell tickets to our games and this income goes towards covering about 50% of the team's cost.
- Players also bear the additional costs of playing equipment in addition to team fees. A full kit of gear is around $1,500 with most items lasting a couple of seasons. However, the life of a player's stick is less certain due to the contact and forces applied to it. It is not uncommon for players to go through 2 to 4 sticks per season. A new stick can cost between $200 and $450.
- Without any sponsorship a player could be paying between $1,000 to $1,500 per season on top of any personal equipment purchases.
